

Crafted for a Life in Balance

A New Standard of Wellness Living

At HQ Residences Miami, wellness is structurally embedded into the building's design, operations, and programming. Every space, private and shared, reflects a single philosophy: to live well is to live in balance.

Envisioned as a fully integrated ecosystem, the project redefines what it means to live well in an urban environment. Here, longevity is not simply about living longer, it is about living better. It is about recovery, connection and vitality.

The wellness experience is designed as a continuous circuit that supports physical performance while also engaging emotional and cognitive wellbeing. Simply by living within the building's advanced filtration systems, non-toxic materials, and health-centered design, residents benefit daily. The result is effortless wellbeing, day after day.

Building & Wellness Features

A 35-story tower designed around light, air, and restoration. At HQ Residences Miami, wellness is not just an amenity, it is built into the DNA of the building.

Designed by Arquitectonica, its diagrid façade transforms light into texture; a sculptural rhythm that mirrors the movement of the city and the calm of the bay. Interiors by Craft Studio and The Design Agency balance warmth and sophistication, blending refined materials and generous volumes with Miami's natural luminosity. With landscape design by Enzo Enea, lush gardens rise skyward, softening the urban edge and connecting every level to nature. A signature feature is a full-floor Wellness Club & Bathhouse, conceived by Kane Sarhan, co-founder of The Well, with Bradford Spa as the spa consultant.
